BODEGA NORTON, WHERE TIME, EARTH AND PASSION COME TOGETHER.

In 1895, railway engineer Sir Edmund Norton arrived in Mendoza. He fell in love with the land, the people, and the wine. What began as a dream grew into one of Argentina's most iconic wineries.

Amid sun-drenched vineyards in the foothills of the Andes, the grapes ripen slowly through warm days and cool nights. The meltwater flowing from the mountains nourishes the ancient vines, some of which are more than a life-time old. Here, families have worked for generations toward the same goal: making pure, characterful wine, with pride and by hand.

130 years later, that dream lives on. The Swarovski family safeguards the craftsmanship, while winemaker David Bonomi revives the tradition. His wines tell a story of origin, of soil, of people who produce with care and respect—sustainably, responsibly, and without haste.

Every bottle of Norton is an ode to Mendoza, Argentina. Passionate, honest, and made to share.
